MODOT PROJECT UPDATES

Motorists can sign up online for workzone updates at www.modot.mo.gov/kansascity, follow MoDot KC on Twitter and share posts and comments on MoDot's Facebook page.

NNI receives a lot of citizen complaints regarding left over election signs and promotional signs placed in yard and public right-of-way. What can be about these problems signs?

Chapter 88 of the Kansas City Municipal Code addresses what is allowable, not allowable, enforcement measures and fines. Enforcement of sign ordinance and regulations is carried out by the Development Management Division of the Planning Dept.

Yard signs are considered incidental signs and one sign per driveway is permitted in a residential district. These signs may not contain a commercial message. Political and election messages are not considered as commercial.

Election signs are allowed during the period from 6 weeks prior to the election to 2 weeks after such election. No such sign may exceed 8 square feet or 4 feet in height. Signs are not permitted on trees, benches and utility poles.

In general, signs in the public right-of-way or on public property are also prohibited, but are allowable under specific terms detailed in Chapter 88. Such signs may not state commercial messages.

Any other sign placed or installed in the right-of-way will be deemed an unlawful sign and an abandoned sign and will be subject to immediate removal by the City of Kansas City, without compensation to the owner. The owner or other person placing the sign will be subject to the penalty provisions of 88-615.

Violators are subject to a fine ranging from $10 to $500 for each and every day of the violations plus the cost of removal and disposal. However, the City will normally just remove the signs and send the owner a letter. Please report violations to 311.
